

Dear Parent,

Children teach us to love unconditionally. They are like flowers who spread fragrance everywhere irrespective of whether anyone inhales their fragrance or not. They are proactively positive and extend love to one and all. Looking at them, we become more appreciative of the world outside as we look at it from their perspective.

Nothing catches a child's imagination more than the vibrancy of colours and shapes. Creating art not only expands a child's ability to interact with the world around them but also provides a new set of skills for self expression and communication. Our Creativity Week 'Delhi Public School- the illuminous north star...'celebrating 70 years of excellence this year was a thumping success with our children learning about the history of our great school and depicting the same through their exhibits using newer techniques of art and happily pointing out their individual contributions to their parents on the day of the exhibition. The whole experience left the children enriched and wanting to create more.

'Swachta Pakhwada' an initiative, to celebrate 150 years of Gandhi Jayanti was a fortnight of activities which aimed to create an awareness about cleanliness and its importance in our lives. Teachers and parents are at the very root of learning and together, we can achieve endless possibilities - our aim being to build a clean and green India.

The festival season imparts many valuable lessons to all of us. It is essential that we learn as much as possible from these lessons. Let us resolve to give and not always take, to do what is right and not what is easy, to dissolve negativity and violence and to make 'Ahimsa' our ultimate dharma with the motive of universal welfare.

Wishing you an enjoyable festival season...
