

Environmental Studies help the students appreciate concepts and methods from ecological and physical sciences and their application in environmental problem solving. This also motivates them to appreciate the ethical, cross-cultural, and historical context of environmental issues and the links between human and natural systems. Subject Enrichment Activities for EVS are planned keeping in mind the current environment of the children.